WOMEN AT THE UNIVERSITY.—The faculty of the University of Virginia has determined to offer a helping hand to aspiring lady students. The lecture room, however, will not be thrown open to women. They will not be invited to partake of all the privileges of the institution on a footing of perfect equality with the male students, but the step taken is a distinct advance toward the higher education of women.

The trustees of this university have just announced that hereafter the faculty will be pleased to confer privately with woman students, to assign to them courses of study identical with those pursued in the class rooms, to conduct regular university examinations on the courses so pursued and to award formal certificates of the grade of scholarship attained. There is no provision made for ordinary lectures or recitations which women can attend, or for degrees. But this promises to make the possession of such certificates by women no less, but more significant.

It is easier to obtain a given degree of proficiency in a course of study when one enjoys the stimulus of association with others in the preparation of regularly assigned portions of the text book from day to day, and of frequent personal interviews with professors than to master the same tasks in private and to reach the same result by unaided self-discipline.

ON FIRE IN A WELL.—While engaged in cleaning out a well 45 feet deep, at the car stables of the Fourth and Eighth streets depot, Philadelphia, on Friday, William Ryan, aged 29 years, met with a frightful accident by the explosion of a gasoline lamp which he was using.

Ryan had been lowered into the well with a rope around his body, and by the cutting of the pump in the well the lamp was crushed, causing it to spring a leak. Ryan was hoisted out of the well, and procuring another lamp, again descended into the well.

When he reached the cross plank near the water, which was ten feet deep, a terrible explosion of the oil from the first lamp, which was floating on the surface, took place.

Instinctively he plunged into the water to extinguish the flames of his clothing, which had taken fire from the explosion. Those at the top of the well, hearing the explosion and Ryan's screams, drew him up with the rope, which fortunately remained securely about his body. When brought out his face and hands presented a shocking appearance.

He was hurried off to the Episcopal Hospital, where his burns, were attended to by Dr. Ashhurst.

THE QUEEN'S ROYAL HORSE GUARDS.
Some members of Queen Victoria's finest, the Royal Horse Guards, and other crack regiments that are England's pride, are to visit America and give a military tournament in October.
They will first be seen at the Madison Square Garden, New York, but the gigantic troopers, 60 strong, all more than six feet high and none over 35 years of age, will be brought out principally for a proposed grand military tournament at the World's fair. They will be the finest specimens of British troopers to be found in the Queen's domain. Capt.
W. F. Rawson Turner, who served 13 years in the Prince of Wales' Own, or the Nineteenth Hussars, and who is the director of the English military tournament for this country, has full charge of the scheme. It is to be a most elaborate and complete affair, and the officials who have it in charge say that the tourneys will be the equal if not the superior of those given in London. The English soldiers will do their best to make good the boast so often made on English soil that the "Queen's finest" have no rivals.

Substratum.
We will give two inches of advertising space for six months in the Alexandria Gazette to the dealer in Alexandria who shall buy and pay for the largest amount of our shoes between the first of March and the first of September, 1892, provided only that our shoes are mentioned in each issue of the space for the period named. Three months to second largest buyer; six weeks to third largest. This simply illustrates our anxiety to have every child and child in Alexandria walk in Alexandria-made shoes. We will see that the ladies need never blush to say that their shoes are home-made, and if economy is wealth, we venture nothing in guaranteeing you wealth, as wearers of our shoes.
